STAFF REPORT ENTITLED "SHORELINE PROTECTIVE STRUCTURES, STAFF REPORT TO THE CALIFORNIA STATE LANDS COMMISSION"

At the November 27, 2000, meeting of the California State Lands Commission (CSLC), the Commissioners authorized the issuance of a Protective Structure Lease for the filling of two seacaves at the base of the bluff in Solana Beach, San Diego County. During the consideration of this item (Minute Item 35), the Commissioners asked specific questions regarding the current policies of the CSLC with respect to issuance of leases for the construction and maintenance of protective structures, primarily along coastal areas of the state. Specifically, the Commissioners asked whether it was appropriate for the CSLC to issue protective structure leases that did not require the payment of rent and whether the placement of hard protective structures negatively impacts beach sand supply, or causes additional erosion, thereby reducing beach areas available for public use.

Similar concerns were raised by Marco Gonzalez, Chairman of the San Diego County Chapter of the Surfrider Foundation, and legal counsel to the National Surfrider Organization.

The Commission directed staff to prepare a report to address these issues. Staff reviewed existing scientific research and published works that address coastal processes and coastal erosion issues in its preparation of the submitted report.
